A tour with Métrovélos

To fully enjoy the flattest city of France and its rich heritage, what is more enjoyable than a bike stroll ?

The stroll will be even better with the Métrovélos !

Biking is one of the best ways to visit Grenoble from every angle. With small effort, you can go from historical downtown to the new eco-neighborhood through Parc Paul Mistral, or even to the Isère riverbanks. Accompanied with a guide from the tourism bureau, get on the yellow bikes for a guided tour off the beaten track, and go all over places, parks, back alleys, and gardens to seek the History and Art of the city.

The price of the stroll comprises the loan of a Métrovélo, a helmet, and the accompanying by a speaker and a guide.

Climbing Bastille

alluvial deposits from this lake that created the perfectly flat valley floors that are in evidence today.

The location of the fort was chosen because it facilitated the surveillance and control of the city of Grenoble from the 19th century as well as the valleys of the Isère and the Drac, all the while being difficult to attack and overthrow because of the cliffs and steep ground by which it is surrounded.

Bastille is the name of a fortress culminating at 476 m (1,561ft) above sea level, at the south end of the Chartreuse mountain range, overlooking the city of Grenoble, France. The Bastille, which also gives its name to the hill, is the main tourist site of the Grenoble area with 600,000 visitors per year.

The fortress lies on the final promontory of mount Rachais, a narrow mountain that is the most southerly of the Chartreuse range. The plateau of the main fortifications is located 264 meters above a singularly flat valley floor which is glacial in origin. It was the melting of the Isère glacier approximately 25,000 years ago that led to the formation of a vast lake stretching from Voiron to Albertville, and which remained for approximately 10,000 years. It is the
